

The Home Office Helper

Why Your Home Office Network Needs a Print Server!

You can share a printer using the capabilities resident in Windows XP. However, we think every home office network needs a print server instead. Here's why!

More Details

Hot Hardware!

We've been waiting to find a tablet PC that is really business tough and capable—and it's here. Lenovo's X41 tablet PC. Only 3.5 lbs. this tablet includes a fingerprint reader and Embedded Security Subsystem as well as the ThinkVantage Active Protection System that detects a fall and parks the hard drive to limit or eliminate data loss. Check out all of the good things this tablet has here!

More Details

Volume 1, Issue 18 August 2005

Value-Based Marketing

Marketing is an often neglected area for many small businesses. Get better acquainted with marketing—and it's importance in this book. An essential text for everyone!

More Details

Tech Spotlight

Everyday as you surf the web for information you use DHCP—Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol. What is DHCP? What does it do? And how does it affect your home router and Internet access

More Details

Tired of Your Cell Phone Headset? Go Wireless—with a Speaker Phone!

Tired of that headset dangling off your ear? Why not go for a Bluetooth speakerphone—like Jabra's SP500 and get wireless ease without wearing on your ear! Find out more about this slick, highly utilitarian and mobile device here.

More Details

Hot Finds!

A business at its inception—check out PocketWaves—a web site where you'll be able to download MP3 ringtones and songs for your cell phone. All the ringtones are produced and owned by PocketWaves so what you'll find there, can only be found at PocketWaves. Find out more about this cool new service here.

More Details

To remove your name from our mailing list, please click here.

Questions or comments? E-mail us at dmielke@homeofficereports.com or call 972-529-9719.

<http://www.homeofficereports.com>