

The Home Office Helper

Volume 1, Issue 22, December, 2005

Vibrant Video—CrossFire from ATI

Are you a video or gaming “maven”? Then you’ve probably been looking for more and more video processing power. That’s what ATI now offers with their CrossFire Multi-GPU video solution. Find out more about it here!

More Details

Hot Hardware!

If CrossFire is “cool” how about a fast and snazzy video card that actually implements the technology? Check out MSI’s RX1800XT-VT2D512E, their latest implementation of the new ATI 1800 XT chipset and ATI CrossFire technology. A really “hot” video card!

More Details

Linux Firewalls Third Edition

The Linux OS is finding its way into an ever increasing number of desktops, servers and notebooks. If you’re running a Linux-based network, you’ll need a fire-wall—and this book too!

More Details

Tech Spotlight

Building your own web site? Want to have it “found” and categorized correctly by the search engines? You’ll need to use and implement “meta tags”. Find out what they are and why they’re important here.

More Details

Even Better Business Planning

We’ve always been big fans of Palo Alto Software’s Business Plan Pro business planning software. And the 2006 release of this powerful, comprehensive and easy to use software hasn’t changed our minds at all! Read more about what’s changed—and even better—here!

More Details

Hot Finds!

Thinking about adding video to your IM or IP-based voice communications. Then we think, you’ll want to add not just video, but good quality video—like that produced by Logitech’s QuickCam Orbit MP. A 1.3 megapixel video camera with motorized pan and tilt, wide field of view and much, much more.

More Details

To remove your name from our mailing list, please click here.

Questions or comments? E-mail us at dmielke@homeofficereports.com or call 972-529-9719.

<http://www.homeofficereports.com>