

Staying In Touch

If you're a home-based business owner who spends time on the road - even if it is just trips around town or in surrounding cities and towns – you understand how frustrating it can be when you need a file or email that is on your home computer (desktop or notebook) and you don't have access to it! Additionally, if you're like me and you hate constantly lugging around your laptop and would rather just carry ONE device, a PDA, Internet-enabled phone or phone/PDA combination (like Palm's Tungsten W), you know how nice it would be if you could get access all the resources of your home PC without carrying around a PDA, Phone and a laptop!

The answer to our prayers is here! 01Communicate recently launched a software/service combination that allows you to interact directly with your mail system (Outlook or Outlook Express) and its contacts and calendar as well as access files, operate your home PC remotely and even get wireless notification of email that has arrived at your home PC. I'm InTouch even supports video streaming (if you have a web cam hooked up to your PC), so you could even (horror of horrors) check out what is going on on the home front while you're doing business on the road.

Here's how it works. (And I've done it here at Home Office Reports, and it was a “snap” to implement and begin using!)

1. You download the I'mInTouch software from their web site – you can click on this link if you wish to start right now - I'm InTouch.
2. After a short set-up process, your PC (connected to the Internet) will be connected to the I'm InTouch registration server.
3. Next, you'll be asked to name your computer (something like Debs_Desktop) and create a log on ID and password to protect your system from unwanted intrusion.
4. Now that your system is registered, and it has a user ID and password, you can simply use any device that is connected to the Internet and uses a web browser to access your system. You simply enter the URL: <http://www.locator.01com.com>, enter your computer name at the prompt and log-in. I've included screen shots of the connection process below.

Take Remote Control of your messages

5. Bang! You're at your system, reading your email, reviewing documents, even performing tasks ON YOUR system.

I've already saved a ton of time (and made a customer or two happier because I could get them the information they needed immediately and they didn't have to wait until I got back to the office and telephoned or emailed them!) using I'm InTouch – even in town using a Wi-Fi “hotspot” and my laptop to get an email and some scheduling information from my desktop.

Of course, nothing in this world is free, and I'm InTouch isn't either. You can purchase the service on either a monthly or annual basis. The monthly rate is $9.95 US, annual is $99.95 US (you save $19.45 over the monthly plan). I'm InTouch is also a Home Office Reports partner company and you can realize an additional 10% discount ($90.00 US) by using the link below to purchase the service - I'm InTouch.

We love this service and hope you do too. It will definitely save your aching back and tons of time as well as help you to delight your customers with your responsiveness. Take a look at I'm InTouch and let us know what you think!
